The annual Group Works for Communities Raffle helps make the following possible with your support:

- the user-friendly AGPA website (www.agpa.org) that effectively reaches the public in their times of need.
- online consumer resources on groups: including how to join a group, what happens in a group, who can benefit, and answers to other frequently asked questions.
- an online platform that provides group therapists with distance learning, continuing education programs, anti-racism support, telehealth information and other professional resources.
- the Find a Group Therapist Directory which provides public access to more than 1,500 certified group therapists.
- a vast library of CE audio tapes from AGPA Connect and teleconferences that is complimentary for training to the AGPA professional community.
- an interactive environment for all visitors to the site that is key to our mission to change lives through group psychotherapy.
